Arjen Boin is the director of LSU’s newly established Stephenson Disaster Management Institute and associate professor in the E. J. Ourso College of Business’ Public Administration Institute. Most recently, Boin was the director of the Leiden University Crisis Research Center in the Netherlands.

Boin has published widely on issues of crisis and disaster management. Recent books include Managing Crises, the award-winning The Politics of Crisis Management (Cambridge University Press), and Governing After Crisis (Cambridge University Press). His expertise has been sought by executives in both the public and private sector.

Boin, who earned his PhD from Leiden University, was a fellow of the Dutch National Science Foundation from 2001-2006. His extensive research and scholarly articles cover topics such as public leadership, correctional and police administration, prison riots, security in the European Union, and institutional design. Boin will serve as the deputy editor of Public Administration, a premier journal in the field.