LSU’s Richard D. White Jr. is the Marjory Oursou Excellence in Teaching Professor in the E. J. Ourso College of Business’ Public Administration Institute. He serves as a member of the University’s Faculty Senate and has received the college’s Excellence in Teaching Award.

White’s teaching interests include Administrative History, Ethics, and Human Resource Management. Besides being the author of Roosevelt the Reformer, Kingfish: The Reign of Huey P. Long, White, who earned a PhD in 1997 from Pennsylvania State University, held various positions during his career with the federal government at the White House, the State Department, and the Central Intelligence Agency. Additionally, he has served as a senior officer in the U.S. Coast Guard.